Mailbox shortage? City asks for survey

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

Hey, bud, can you spare a mailbox?

That's what Romulus officials are asking the U.S. Post Office after Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear questioned the number of mailboxes in the city during the Aug. 13 council meeting.

"When I was growing up in the 1970s, there was a mailbox on Wayne Road that was taken away," Gear said. "Since then, residents near me who want to mail a letter have driven to the Wayne Post Office or to the Romulus Post Office on the south side of the city. That's a long way to go to mail a letter."

Gear's complaint prompted city councilmembers this week to request a survey of Romulus by postal officials. The survey is to determine whether new mailboxes will be needed and whether relocating of current mailboxes is necessary.

Taylor Postmaster Michael Walsh said Monday he isn't aware of any complaints about a mailbox shortage in Romulus, but is willing to conduct a survey if complaints arise.

Currently, there are 16 mail boxes throughout the city, including one at the Romulus Post Office at 11000 Hunt Street, according to Taylor.

"We have to find out if there is a need for new mailboxes," Walsh said. "Of course, we can't put one on every corner. Everyone would like to have one on their block, except the guy living on the corner."

Under U.S. Postal regulations, the number of boxes in a city is determined by the amount of mail generated. A mailbox must collect at least 25 letters a day or it will be removed, regulations stipulate.

No mailboxes have been removed in Romulus during at least the past 10 years, Taylor said.

One alternative to driving to a mailbox is leaving letters in a residential mailbox for mail carriers to pick up.

That idea doesn't sit well with Gear.

"A lot of people don't like to leave their letters in their own mailbox because they are worried somebody might tamper with it," Gear said. "All you have to do is drive around Romulus. You won't see people leaving letters in their own mailboxes and you won't see mailboxes located in the areas with a high density of population."

Chevelle: Nothing is like it

By BARBARA GOFFMAN
ANP Special Writer

Bigger than Novas but smaller than Impalas, Chevelle automobiles have held a warm spot in the hearts of many Michiganders since they were first manufactured in 1964.

Locally, Chevelle fans are numerous. About 50 people now belong to the Chevelle Club of Michigan, a state-wide organization based in Westland. The club aims to preserve and promote the interest in these cars.

President Chuck Finch began the club in 1976 after he met several other Chevelle owners parking each Sunday with their families in Hines Park.

"I met one Chevelle owner, and we began parking our cars together, and then we met another. Pretty soon we had a whole group of people who came down every Sunday and parked their Chevelles next to each other," Finch said. "We've come a long way since those Hines Park afternoons."

Now Chevelle Club members meet the first Sunday of every month to plan future club events, such as the Wayne Festival Car Show and Swap Meet this Sunday which the organization is sponsoring, and to exchange information on how to care or restore Chevelles.

Their cars represent nearly all of the nine years the Chevelle was manufactured, Finch said. Restoration of these vehicles is a common hobby among members. Some have Chevelles once altered for racing while others have kept the stock look.

— Chuck Finch
Chevelle Club President

Finch himself has four Chevelles. "I own a 1966 Chevelle," he said. "It's all original. No changes have been made."

The car has 46,000 miles on it. Finch has two more cars whose conditions are not as good, he said.

"I've been working on my '67 Malibu on and off for eight years, but it's not near finished. I've rebuilt the engine, sandblasted the whole underneath and painted it all black. I have a second '67 Malibu convertible that I've been trying to save, but it's pretty well gone. It's just about junk."

Members of the Michigan club regularly have the opportunity to swap such stories with other Chevelle owners from across the country.

"There's a car show somewhere nearly every weekend," Finch said. "We have members who go to as many as 20 shows a year. There's the National Chevelle Owners Association annual meeting each August. Additionally, we have three functions of our own each year." This Sunday, the club is sponsoring the fifth annual Wayne Festival Car Show and Swap Meet. The show is open to all automobiles for a $7 fee. Each car will be judged by the spectators in one of eight classes: original and restored, street machines manufactured before 1970, hot rods from 1948 on, trucks and vans competition, pro street cars, sports cars and custom models. Three trophies will be awarded per class.

A swap meet also will be staged at the show. For $10, individuals can set up a table and lay out automobile parts they hope to sell or swap.

Registration and set-up will last from 9 a.m. until noon. The first 100 cars there will receive dash plaques, Finch said.

He welcomes all Chevy owners statewide to the Michigan Chevelle Club. The majority of the current members, however, are from the Detroit Metro area.

For $12 a year in dues, members get discounts at three high performance car parts shops, including Ramchargers in Livonia, Mayfair's Automotive Machining in Taylor and Nighthawk Automotive in Plymouth, as well as a newsletter every other month and a window decal. Finch urged anyone interested in joining to call him at 721-1967.

Man charged in weekend shooting

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

A Romulus man was arraigned Monday in 34th District Court in the alleged shooting attempt of another Romulus man early Saturday morning.

Donnie Michael Moore, 25, was charged with carrying a felony firearm and assault with intent to commit murder. He was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court on $100,000 bail.

A preliminary examination is scheduled at 9 a.m. Aug. 29.

Moore was arrested following a police investigation of a complaint by the live-in girlfriend of a 38-year-old Romulus man in the 38000 block of Westgate, according to detective Lt. Kenneth Krause. The detective would not release the man's name.

The man told police he was being harassed by Moore after Moore approached him at his residence on several occasions late Friday night.

"They got into a heated discussion because Moore wanted to get into the house and the man wouldn't let him," Krause said. "One thing led to another, and Moore left."

But he came back a second time, asking the man for permission to enter his house, according to police reports. The man told police he refused and Moore left again, not before exchanging a few heated words.

"It is our belief Moore wanted to get into the house so he could party," Krause said. "It was late on a weekend night and Moore wanted to party, but the man didn't want his company."

Community meeting is slated

The Romulus Community Right To Know Committee has scheduled a meeting at 2 p.m. on Aug. 28 in the Community Room at City Hall.

Since the last meeting, plans dealing with various businesses have been completed and submitted to the state for approval.

Issues for the committee to discuss include: transportation ordinances, exercises and oil company plans.

Local students return home

Stacie Brown of Romulus was one of dozens of students who participated in the Youth For Understanding International Exchange program this summer.

Brown, who attends Romulus Senior High, stayed in Finland with the Touminen family.

"YFU's American Overseas program gives high school students a chance to immerse themselves in another language and culture, which helps them learn and grow in ways they never anticipated," YFU President William M. Woessner said in a press release. "The increased confidence and abilities with which students return home is invaluable."

Sports program is scheduled

Romulus youths in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades can polish up their sports skills beginning Sept. 17. The Romulus Park and Recreation Department will sponsor an after school program for kids to participate in soccer, volleyball, basketball and floor hockey. Each program will last two months. The schedule will run until March.

Volunteers are needed

The Michigan State Fair Recycling Committee needs volunteers for all 11 days of the fair, Aug. 24 through Sept. 3. Each volunteer should be able to work at least one four-hour shift.

Volunteers will perform sorting, cleaning and packing of recyclables. They each will receive a one-day pass to the fair, free parking and a "State Fair Recycler" cap and T-shirt.

Anyone interested in helping, should contact Les Vilcone, the recycle resource recovery coordinator, at 224-3634.

City wants recyclables

Do you know where your recyclables are? Romulus officials hope so. The city will be collecting them in the City Hall parking lot from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Sept. 7 and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sept. 8.

Recyclable items accepted will include glass, plastics, newspapers, aluminum, tin and car, boat and small batteries, according to Jeffrey Martell, coordinator for community development.

Church festival is planned

St. Aloysius Church Labor Day Weekend Festival is set for Aug. 31 through Sept. 3.

The festival includes live bands, 50/50 raffle, Las Vegas games, chicken dinners, bingo, arts and craft, white elephant sale and more.

The church is on Neville Road, north of Goddard Road, in Romulus.

Model donates to Humane Society

After winning the Black Velvet Model Search competition, Kimberly Snoes of Detroit donated part of her winnings to the Westland Humane Society.

Snoes was chosen out of more than 11,000 applicants and then made the final 15. Past winners include: Cheryl Tiegs, Kim Lexis and Christie Brinkley.

Hospital opens drug program

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

Western Wayne County will soon have its first in-patient substance abuse program for teenagers.

Annapolis Hospital-Westland Center administrators will open the "Intensive Adolescent Residential Program" for teens with drug and alcohol problems on Aug. 27.

The new program at Annapolis, 2345 Merriman Road, north of Michigan Avenue, is known for an innovative, positive technique.

Doctors, nurses and therapists treating teens in this program recognize chemical dependency as a disease, according to Diane Oran, a registered nurse and unit clinical manager.

The treatment focuses on positive reinforcement by helping teens gain self-esteem and decision-making skills.

"At the core of every teen abusing alcohol or drugs is a person with low self-esteem," Oran said.

The program motivates the teens toward recovery by offering them rewards for good behavior.

The teen-agers in the program earn points on their "therapeutic contracts" to gain privileges, said Oran, who successfully used this approach in a program at the UCLA-Neuro Psychiatric Institute and Hospital in Los Angeles.

Patients usually stay at the hospital about three weeks, and the program is available to any teen-ager with a dependency problem.

The capacity for each three-week session is 20 teens, with 10 boys and 10 girls.

A host of trained staff members including social workers, substance abuse counselors, occupational therapists and recreational counselors help the people in the program.

The recreational counselors help the youth constructively plan their leisure time.

Social workers advise teens experiencing family problems, which often exacerbate a drug problem, Oran said.

On-site instructors teach academic classes to the youth in the program, so they don't miss any school.

Experts in charge of the program do a comprehensive assessment of all teens who have asked for help.

"The comprehensive assessment helps us determine the level of care each teen-ager should receive before admission into the program," Oran said.

Some openings are still available. For more information, call the outpatient chemical dependency department 24-hour hotline at 467-2600 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Blind puppy is joy to all

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Just like other puppies, Wizard loves to play and run with children.

But there's one difference. The eight-month-old AKC Cocker Spaniel is nearly blind, and only able to see shadows.

"He loves the kids in our neighborhood, and he follows them right on their heels," said Beth Barnhart, the dog's owner and a Westland resident. "My neighbors think it's funny because he runs right along side of the kids, and when they stop, he runs right into them."

Wizard's eyes have cataracts, a clouding of the tissue. While it takes him a while to find the door, Wizard greets all visitors to the Barnhart family.

The dog is also protective of Barnharts' two boys.

"When I put them down for their naps, he lays right outside the door until they wake up," Barnhart said.

Although the damage is reversible, the only chance

Wizard will see if Barnhart can collect enough money for an operation.

"When he was born, the breeder gave him away for free, because she knew he would never be show dog quality," said Julie Crouse, a friend of the Barnhart family.

After meeting Wizard, Crouse began looking for a way to have his sight restored. She called veterinary colleges nationwide and parts of Canada for someone with a reasonable price.

"They used to allow their interns to practice on animals that needed surgery, but they don't do that anymore," Crouse said.

What makes matters worse is the operation must be done by a veterinarian who specializes in ophthalmology, Crouse said.

She has also talked to local veterinarians who specialize in eye surgery, but wasn't successful.

As a last resort, use is asking local residents to donate money.

"I've called different places and the average cost is $600 per eye, but if he could just have one eye done, at least he could see," Crouse said.

Cataracts are common in young Cocker Spaniels, but most dogs don't develop symptoms until older, she said.

Anyone interested in donating money can make checks payable to Timothy Bowers, DVM, in care of 771 Easely, Westland.

Shrinking? City disputes Census count

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

Preliminary census counts released Monday show Romulus shrank 8 percent since 1980.

Romulus dwindled from 24,857 to 22,739, but Jeff Martell of the Romulus community department said, "I don't feel these numbers are right. We have 15 days to dispute the figure and that's what we are going to do."

going to do." Among points of dispute are the before and after counts, new housing starts and neighborhoods with low response rates, Martell said.

The national response average to the census was 62 percent, but several Romulus neighborhoods fell below the 60 percent mark, according to Martell.

"It's not too late to respond to the census and if we can get some cooperation from those neighborhoods, we could reach the 25,000 mark," he said.

Martell said a low response rate, coupled with a younger population, were largely responsible for the loss of 2,118 residents since 1980.

"A lot of young people have moved in," Martell said. "I see more and more young families who can't afford children so they aren't having many."

If you have not been counted, you can do it over the phone by calling the U.S. Census Hotline between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday at 1-800-999-1990.

Notice of Public Hearing on Increasing Property Taxes

The Romulus Board of Education of the Romulus Community Schools will hold a public hearing on a proposed increase of .97 mills in the operating tax millage rate to be levied in 1990.

The hearing will be held on Monday, August 27, 1990 at 7:00 o'clock in the p.m. at 36540 Grant Road, Romulus, MI.

If adopted, the proposed additional millage will increase operating revenues from ad valorem property taxes 2.17% over such revenues generated by levies permitted without holding a hearing.

The taxing unit publishing this notice, and identified below, has complete authority to establish the number of mills to be levied from within its authorized millage rate.

New state reform act targets education

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

A sweeping reform act targeting the quality of education in Michigan public schools will begin this fall.

Called the "Quality of Education Package," it includes new requirements in curriculum, school improvement, planning, dropout prevention and parental involvement.

The emphasis is on results rather than programs, according to Donald L. Bemis, state superintendent of Public Instruction.

"It's wonderful to have a great writing course, but I want to know if the student has learned to write," Bemis said.

Recent studies indicate Michigan public schools must be strengthened to meet the demands youth face in the changing work place and their roles as family members or citizens of the community.

Michigan students currently rank in the middle of dropout and achievement indexes compared to the rest of the states, according to Bemis.

The State Board of Education has developed a model core curriculum, which each school must make available to students by July 31, 1991.

The purpose is to provide a framework to schools, so they can examine the relevancy and adequacy of their educational programs, Bemis said.

"It's a set of expectations we believe students need to achieve to make progress in their education," Bemis said.

Throughout the state, local school boards must approve a resolution with the intent to comply by Oct. 30.

The new package also requires the accreditation of all 3,600 schools in Michigan with each school issuing an annual status report.

"Our goal is to accredit 600 schools by next year," Bemis said. "So far, 400 schools have volunteered for the pilot program."

It will take six to eight years to accredit all the schools in the state, he said, adding all schools will be in the accreditation process by the 1992-93 school year.

"It will be an ongoing process. We will never be done improving our schools," Bemis said.

Each school will issue an annual educational report to the public indicating student test scores, retention and dropout rates, with the first slated to appear July 31, 1991.

New phone plan to change rates

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

If Ma Bell has her way, calling Flint would be cheaper than calling Los Angeles for area residents.

But calling from public phones would cost 5 cents more.

It's all part of a new repricing plan Michigan Bell has recently asked for state approval. The plan, which the company contends will not increase revenues, is in an effort to tailor phone bills to the specific needs of residents, with little impact on business, according to Charlene Mitchell, company spokeswoman.

"We're calling it a repricing plan because we are customizing the individual phone bill," Mitchell said. "Under the plan, customers can choose from different packages that best serve their needs."

Among significant billing changes:

•Cuts of up to 15 percent on long distance calls of more than 20 miles.

•New pricing packages ranging from paying 6.2 cents per call to $11.75 for up to 300 calls per month.

•Charging 25 cents for 25 information service calls and 35 cents for each additional call per month. Currently, the phone company allow 20 free calls to information and charges 22 cents for each call thereafter.

•Price hikes for all operated-assistance calls, such as person-to-person, collect, bill to third party and operator-assisted calls.

Michigan Bell is also asking the state to approve new services, including:

•Customer name and address where customers can obtain name and address associated with a listed phone number. Fee is 50 cents.

•Custom phone numbers that are easy to remember for a one-time charge of $50.

•Semiprivate listing for customers who want their phone numbers listed in information.

Plane inventor honored

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

Orville Wright would have been proud.

On his birthday, a whole squadron of planes flew silently over Hines Park on a rain-soaked Sunday during the Wayne County Parks first "Paper Airplane Extravaganza."

The event also commemorated National Aviation Day, according to Vic Chiasson of the Wayne County Parks System.

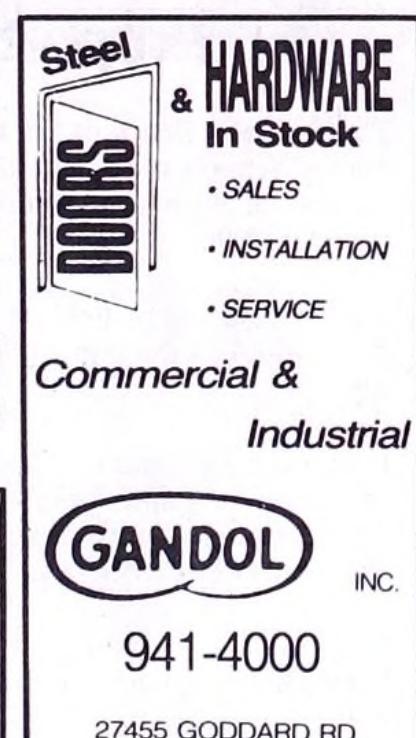

Chiasson divided contestants into the following age groups: 7 and under, 8 to 10, 11 to 20 and over 21.

The winners in the over-21 age group were Joe Steele of Livonia and Mike Hubert of Garden City.

"The rain didn't dampen the participants' spirits. They all had a good time," parks spokeswoman Sandy Devonec said.

Water park a drive away

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

You don't have to get wet at Lang's Water Park, but it's more fun if you do.

Whether it's a ride down the Rampage water slide or some other activity, the tree-shaded water park has something for everyone.

Located between Northline and Eureka roads, just east of Inkster Road, in Taylor, the park has an all-day admission price of $9.95 for adults and $8.95 for children 10 and under. Visitors can spend the day from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. on the slides, bumper boats, mini-golf course, paddle boats, go-karts and other play areas, and picnic in the adjacent wooded glen.

Visitors may want to bring along a snack for the ducks which paddle around the pond and wander through the picnic area quacking for treats.

A typical day at the park can include a Bumper-Boat ride in the 10,000-square-foot pond, a leisurely cruise on the Paddle Boat Pond and a ride on one of the Rampage water slides. Visitors can try their skills in the 18-hole Mini-Golf Forest and engineer the turns and straightaways on the 1/4-mile Go-Kart track.

The younger visitors to the park can play in the new Mini-Web play area, which features a spider-web type structure for bouncing, swinging and upside-down maneuvers. Youngsters, between the ages of 2 and 12, can play on the Moon Walk and play in the Big Toys playground area.

Food is available at the park concessions, and picnic facilities are available for company outings, school and church groups. The regular season extends through Labor Day, with hayrides and a Halloween festival planned in October. Pre-season and post-season bookings also are available to groups.

Every time a new medicine for the treatment of cholesterol is in the news, or recent research shows even greater health risks of having high cholesterol levels, you again are reminded that it's not good for you. Here are some facts about cholesterol that may surprise you.

CHOLESTEROL IS NECESSARY

You may be surprised to know that none of us could survive without cholesterol. It's needed by our bodies to make hormones which regulate our body functions, to make bile salts which help digest food, and to create cell membranes.

Cholesterol enters the bloodstream through the food we eat and through the liver, which manufactures cholesterol. We vary greatly in the amount of cholesterol we absorb from our food, and the amount we manufacture. People on the same diet and under the same conditions can have much different cholesterol levels.

Two important components of your total cholesterol are High Density Lipoproteins (HDL) and Low Density Lipoproteins (LDL). HDL is often referred to as "good cholesterol" because it is manufactured naturally and actually helps remove cholesterol from the body. Conversely, LDL is referred to as "bad cholesterol" because it builds up on artery walls. The ratio between HDL and LDL in your system is just as important in determining your risk of heart disease as is your total cholesterol count.

HOW MUCH IS TOO MUCH?

Unfortunately, too much cholesterol is harmful and can lead to hardening of the arteries (atherosclerosis), which results in fatty deposits on blood vessel walls. These deposits block blood flow and, if severe enough, can cause heart attacks and strokes.

There are National Institute of Health guidelines for cholesterol levels. Lowering cholesterol by one percent can lower your risk of heart disease and stroke by two percent.

Eating foods that are lower in cholesterol and saturated fats may be all that is needed. For some, however, dietary measures are not enough and medication to lower cholesterol may be necessary.

It is important to keep in mind that cholesterol is not the only factor in the development of heart disease. Cigarette smoking, high blood pressure, diabetes, obesity, and the lack of exercise must also be addressed.

Gas prices on the rise

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Gasoline prices increased by two to six cents in most area stations last week, but dropped slightly at least one area pump.

Since the threat of a Persian Gulf shipping blockade and the move of American troops to the Iraqi-Saudi Arabian border, gasoline prices have increased throughout the country.

Last week, prices in the Belleville area ranged from 117.9 for unleaded regular to 138.9 for unleaded premium plus, according to a survey of gas stations.

A downtown independent station posted prices of 119.9 for unleaded regular and 135.9 for premium unleaded last Monday, but dropped its prices to 116.9 and 131.9 this week.

Opinion

Stand up and be counted

It's not too late to be counted.

That's what U.S. Census officials are saying to people who have not filled out the long or short census forms.

It's hard to find a municipality that couldn't agree. The reason is simple: more people means more money.

For every person counted, each municipality receives money from the government. More money means more funding for schools, community programs and better services. Hence, it is in the best interest of every community to have as many people counted as possible.

In some instances, good reasons do exist for ignoring the census forms, such as two broken hands, amnesia or the ever popular "My dog ate my form," excuse.

In light of this, the government has made the whole process of being counted simpler for stragglers.

Residents can call the U.S. Census Hotline at 1-800-999-1990 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Operators will fill out the census form over the phone.

How convenient and easy. Unless, of course, your dog chewed up your phone.

A matter of pride

The first time might have been luck. The second time was no accident.

At just about this time last year, The Associated Newspapers became one of the victims of a newsrack thief. Hundreds of dollars were stolen from the newspaper vending boxes which we place on the streets of our local communities. Each time one of the boxes was targeted by the thief, the rack was vandalized, locks broken, retention chains cut and occasionally, the entire box hauled away.

The cost to our company was far more than the money taken from the rack. It became the cost of repairs to the racks, replacement of the locks and chains and the purchase of new boxes, at $350 each. The incidental losses were small, but the cumulative effect became significant.

Each time one of these incidents occurred, a report was filed with the local police department in which the crime occurred. Each time a police report was filed, we were treated politely and dismissed as no more than a nuisance complaint filed for insurance purposes, with one marked exception.

In Wayne, someone was paying attention. Detectives reviewing the accumulated reports and listening to our complaints realized our financial losses were mounting and ability to provide newspapers to local readers was being threatened. They decided no small-time thief such as this was going to best the Wayne Police Department.

Police officers, as time allowed, established surveillance at certain newsracks. Within two weeks, they caught the brothers involved in the act of vandalizing the boxes and stealing the coins. One escaped and the other was charged.

Last month, the scenario began again. After the sixth incident, the Wayne officers decided, once again, that no small-time hoodlum was going to get away with this type of overt crime in their city. When not occupied on more serious matters, officers once again watched designated newsracks. Within a week, they apprehended a 17-year-old youth and his girlfriend taking our money.

In the other five communities, we are still considered just a nuisance. Only in Wayne were we able to explain the cumulative losses and communicate the serious damage being inflicted.

At a meeting of local publishers this week, other newspaper operators began to explain the serious losses they are sustaining due to newsrack vandalism and theft. They are getting little, if any, cooperation from their local police departments who do not understand each incident is only one entry in the loss total department.

Do Wayne police have less to do? No, we don't think so. Is there less crime in Wayne? No, we don't think that either. What we do believe is the Wayne Police Department comprises professional men and women who take their jobs seriously and are dedicated to doing the best they can for everyone. These officers actually seem to believe preventing crime against local residents is their job and they take great pride in doing it well.

We have offered them our sincere gratitude for the job they did in putting a stop to these thefts. But we thank them more for the attitude they displayed, the attention they paid and the restoration of confidence they provided.

This is one we won't forget.

School district key to home values

I find myself wondering if people really realize that if they let their school district fall apart, down will fall their property values. Lincoln Schools are once again trying to pass the Headlee override on Aug. 27. I hear many say they are tired of high taxes and this is the only time they can say no about being taxed. This is their opportunity to finally put their foot down. But in the end, it's not only the children who suffer, property owners will also.

Property in Lincoln School District is at its all-time high. Equity growth in each home and parcel of land has continued to increase at a healthy rate for the past several years. You may ask: Why is it one of the fastest growing areas? First, it's always the good quality of schools we have maintained. Let the schools go down and so will go your property values. Say no at the polls and so will new purchasers, builders and industries looking for a place to relocate. We are not hurting the state, the Lincoln School Board or anyone else we care to blame for our financial problems. We are only hurting ourselves and our families. Even if you have no children in the schools, the end vote will affect you.

In the past at voting time, you may have received flyers from a group called "The For the Kids Committee." These communications are always signed and include a phone number to call if you have any questions. You can always contact someone for any answers you may need. Other flyers also arrive at your door with derogatory statements and untruths. These communications never include a name or a number, or any identification of where it originated from and you can never contact anyone for more explanation. Why do you think people would bother sending out good information and not include some form of recognition of where it came from? Please ask yourself these questions and support the Lincoln Headlee override for the children and yourself. I would also like to thank all the people on "The For the Kids Committee," for all their hard work and effort. They are a group that cares and only wants the best for our children and their future.

School board not making sense

Is our Wayne-Westland school board making a legitimate decision or are we receiving a slap on the hand for not passing the millage they requested in June?

The state legislature recently recaptured another $50 million in categorical aid from out-of-formula school districts in hopes of decreasing the gap between in-formula and out-of-formula school districts in the state.

The governor has signed the school state aid bill, which means we, in Wayne-Westland, will realize an additional $1,380,000 to run our schools.

Extensive cuts were made to balance the 1990-91 school budget, including a reduction of hours in the junior high school day. This reduction saved the school district $1.1 million.

Common sense would make you think the junior high day should be restored to six hours with this additional money.

On Aug. 13, the school board did not have this important item on their agenda, so I brought the matter to their attention.

Yes, they did know the state was sending the additional money, but no, they would not restore the junior high day. Nor would they reinstate the two principal positions also cut at the elementary level, which they could now afford.

The school board still has the nerve to blame the current dilemma our schools are in on those voters who said no and continue to make devastating decisions. The people who are directly affected by the current posture the school board has taken must stand up and let their voices be heard until we have the accountability from our elected officials that we and our children deserve.

Few questions to be asked

Not living in the City of Wayne any longer, I have just heard about the lawsuit that has been filed against the city officials and also the recall campaign. When I first came to Michigan some 35 years ago, Wayne was my home for a good, long while, and I still have a soft spot in my heart for the city. Therefore, I would like to express my feelings regarding this whole matter.

First, I have a few questions that I would like to ask. Where were these people when it came time to back candidates to run for the offices during the last election? Either put up or shut up. Why didn't they run, and, if they did, why weren't they elected? The current members of council must be doing something right or the citizens of Wayne would have voted for new blood, unless this group of individuals think that the citizens of Wayne are a bunch of mindless boos. To me that's what they are saying.

I know that the city of Wayne isn't perfect, but what city is? But what this court action is doing is much more harmful to Wayne than the problems that have been pointed out in the media. Say you are a businessman looking for a place to locate your new plant or office, would you want to come to a city that is in the middle of conflict and strife? I would say not. Wayne may not have the best government, but there are other ways of solving this problem than airing one's dirty laundry out in the mass media.

Come on, people let's get with it and drop this nonsense and start pulling together, and not pulling each other, and more importantly, the city of Wayne apart. There is no reason that this city, its city government, and its citizens, can't start expressing its individuality, as one of Michigan's leading communities.

Athens-bound Former Romulus High star Mills opts to play in Greece

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Terry Mills has opted to launch his professional basketball career in Europe.

The 6-10, 230-pound University of Michigan center who was drafted last month by the Milwaukee Bucks, has reportedly signed a contract to play for Greece in the European professional league. Terms of the contract were not immediately available.

"It's a great opportunity for Terry," said Al Wilkerson, who coached Mills at Romulus High. "It's a good situation for him."

"After all, the name of the game when you're a pro is to make money. And if Greece offers him a better financial package than the NBA teams, then why not accept?"

Mills, 22, is a bachelor who was raised in Romulus. His uncle, Johnny Long, starred for the Detroit Pistons and is presently with the Atlanta Hawks. A first-cousin, Grant Long, also is in the NBA. Grant was named the Most Valuable Player with the expansion club, the Miami Heat.

Both Johnny Long and Grant

Long had superlative high school careers at Romulus High. John went on to play for the University of Detroit, while Grant was an All-American for the Hurons at Eastern Michigan University.

"There was little doubt in anyone's mind that Terry would play professional ball, especially with his background and talent," noted Wilkerson. "It is unfortunate, however, that Terry's fans will now have to head for Europe to see him play."

Mills led the Eagles of Romulus to a 23-2 season and the 1986 Class A state championship.

For his efforts, Mills was picked as an All-American.

However, the then-young 6-9 Mills got off on the wrong foot in college. He was forced to sit out his freshman year at Michigan when he failed to meet the Scholastic Aptitude Test (S.A.T.) standards.

Once he established himself, however, Mills played a dominate role in the Wolverines' successful bid for the national collegiate championship.

Tigers are thin but mean

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With 17 lettermen returning to the Tiger roster, "interim" Belleville High head football coach Sam Villa is looking forward to the 1990 campaign.

A year ago, Villa stepped in and took over the Tigers when his predecessor Dave McCarter abruptly quit. McCarter reportedly left because of the pay-to-play policy imposed by the school board.

The soft-spoken, except when he's on the sidelines, Villa hurdled numerous obstacles and managed to salvage the season as he guided the Tigers to a respectable 4-5 won-lost season.

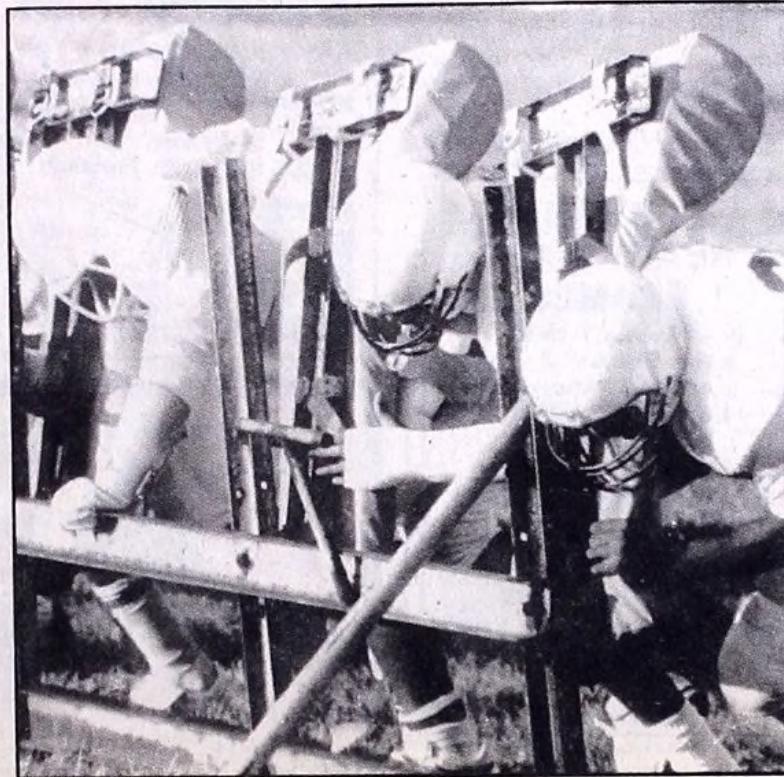

To offset the costs of running the sports programs, Belleville athletes last year were asked to fork over $250 each.

This year, the board has shelved the policy. The fall sports will operate without the additional financial aid from the athletes, however, if the October 1 millage proposal fails, the board may be forced to reinstate the policy for the rest of the school year.

The Tigers may not have to worry about finances, but they do have some concerns about their league. At least three teams are picked to give defending champ Fordson a battle for the Wolverine 'A' Conference title.

And Belleville isn't considered to be one of them.

Belleville does have a strong nucleus of returning letterwinners who are led by a blue chip college prospect. Ron Hunter, a 6-4, 205-pound senior who was named to the all-conference and All-area teams a year ago, will be at middle linebacker. He will double as a flanker on offense.

The offensive backfield also will have experience with the return of quarterback Todd Yocom, a 5-9, 170-pound athlete who has an excellent throwing arm. He is also a threat as a ballcarrier.

Senior tailback Chris Zaccaria, a 5-9, 175-pound elusive ballcarrier, should be much improved over a year ago.

"We have a lot of skilled people returning," Villa pointed out, "but we are missing that big line we had a year ago."

Walter Ostrowski and David Boyd are exceptions, however. Ostrowski will check into his defensive tackle slot at 215-pounds; Boyd is 6-2, 195-pounds. He'll play one of the defensive halfback positions.

A second year player, Boyd could develop into a good college prospect if he continues to improve and work, the Tiger coach noted.

Strong safety Jimmy Wagoner, 5-8, 169-pound, who will wear the fullback's helmet on offense, is another player that the Tigers will be relying upon.

Although finishing in the middle of the pack a year ago, Villa says the Wolverine 'A' Conference title race could become a three-team affair. He says Lincoln Park could unseat perennial power and defending champ, Fordson. The Tractors will also be missing their legendary coach, Charles Jeste, who has retired.

Monroe and Wyandotte may also be the next powerhouses in the league.

And what about the Tigers?

"If we want the title, those are the teams we will have to beat," Villa replied.

For Belleville, it all begins on Friday, August 31 when Taylor Center invades the Tiger lair for the 1990 season opener.

Co-champs have all their cagers back from last year

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With all of their regulars - and the bench - returning from a year ago, the Vikings of Inkster High could become the team to be in Class B in 1990.

But Dwight Hotchkiss, who will begin his sixth season as head coach, has been court side long enough to know that anything can happen to turn dream teams into nightmares.

"Consistency is what I am worried about with this team," Hotchkiss said. "This is a very balanced team. In fact, 12 of the 13 players will probably get equal playing time."

The Vikings will launch the 1990 basketball campaign at 5:30 p.m. against Pontiac Northern, a school traditionally noted for its outstanding cage talent. The outcome of the nonconference game may tell Hotchkiss, he says, a lot about his 1990 club.

"If we can get off to a good start, it may set the tempo for the rest of the season."

Hotchkiss knows that with Leatrice Scott, a 5-10 forward, the Vikings have one of the premier players in the state this year. An aggressive cager, who can score from almost anywhere, Scott gave the Vikings a boost after she arrived on the scene in mid-season from the South. She scored in double figures and helped on the boards, lifting Inkster to a 18-4 over-all record.

Inkster shared the Suburban Athletic Conference championship with Oak Park in 1989.

Hotchkiss also has a trio of all-conference, all-area cagers returning to the lineup. Incidentally, Scott was not named to the all-SAC team because coaches said she had not been with the team the entire year.

Tequan Abney, a 5-8 forward, Latanya McMillan, also 5-8 who was the Vikings' leading rebounder and best defensive player a year ago, and Tawana Green, a 5-5 deceptive guard, did earn All-SAC honors. They should be even better this season.

Hotchkiss will also rely on Laquanta Epps, who he describes as a "very fast, smart player who excels on defense." Other prominent holdovers from last year's championship club include Monique Roberts, a 5-8 forward, Alexis Watson, the team's 3-point shooter, sophomore Christine White, and Jean Braswell, the team's floor leader.

Hotchkiss sees the SAC title chase as "another dogfight" with Highland Park and Oak Park joining the Vikings in the shoot-out.

And does the coach have any designs on the Class B state title. After all, Inkster did give defending state champ, Dearborn Divine Child, a race for its money before losing in the district's by 10 points (49-39).

"Right now, we're looking to our opener," Hotchkiss said. "That is our primary concern at the moment."

This is a great opportunity for Terry. If Greece offers him a better financial package than the NBA teams, why not take it? After all, the name of the game when you're a pro is to make the most you can while you can.

Sophomore Romulus coach faces 'rebuilding year'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In his sophomore year as head coach at Romulus High, Dan Henry faces the biggest challenge of his coaching career.

"This is the smallest group of kids I have ever had report to camp," said Henry, who took over the Eagles a year ago and guided them to a 4-5 won-lost season. "We had only 25 players report and there aren't many 200-pounders in that group."

Henry will have the same problem as he did a year ago. How to survive in a league - the South Central Conference - that is noted for producing outstanding football talent.

"We have a tough schedule and these kids won't have any time to waste to get ready," Henry stressed.

Romulus will open the 1990 campaign at home under the lights. They will take on neighboring Taylor Truman in their first of two nonconference tuneups on Friday, August 31. The following week, the Eagles are at Garden City (Sept. 14) before returning home to host Adrian for their SCC opener on Sept. 14.

Although most positions are up for grabs, Henry does have an All-Area gridiron returning in Guam Lee, who is a rugged 5-6, 210-pound senior. Lee was the mainstay of the defensive line a year ago, and should have no difficulty playing that role again in his final prep season.

The Eagles have talent in 5-6, 155-pound speeds-

We only have 25 players out for varsity this year, and 10 of those are sophomores, so we are lean and green. It definitely is a rebuilding year for us this year. However, these kids have a good attitude.

ter Even Smith and 6-0, 190-pound Octavius Miles. They have the experience to provide leadership.

A sophomore, Bob Bergeron, has taken over the quarterbacking chores and Henry says he has confidence the 5-7, 145-pound athlete will do an excellent job.

The Eagles' erratic offense was one of their major problems a year ago and is left without a battle-tested receiver going into the 1990 campaign, and the coaching staff will have its job cut out for them. That staff will also include Dale Evans, Mike Roffi, Dan Stearn, Bryan Tapp and Jim Zoltowski.

"We have a couple of scrimmages ahead of us," Henry said. "We will get a better look at them at that time. Right now, all I can say is these players do have the right attitude. They're working hard and getting ready for that opening day."

Sleeper?

Tigers may make a run for the title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If you're looking for a "sleeper" in Wolverine 'A' Conference Cross Country this season, look to Belleville. Coach Dave Medley's runners could surprise.

An exceptional crop of junior runners could make 1990 a title year for the Tigers.

But the defending champ, Monroe, will have a lot to say about who eventually will wear the conference crown. Monroe has another group of "nice young runners returning", according to the Belleville coaching staff.

"I believe we could surprise a lot of teams this year," said Medley, whose club will begin action on Thursday, Sept. 6 at the Ypsilanti Invitational. "We have some fine talent and coachable kids."

Belleville finished third to Monroe a year ago. Sandwiched between the defending champ and the local club was Wyandotte. To move up a couple of notches, Medley admits that "everything must fall into place."

To make sure that it does, the Tigers have back on their roster three notable runners in juniors Troy Adams, Jason Kidwell and Gary Knowlton. Twins Peter and Paul LaFramboise will be much improved and sophomore Tony Maciejewski will give the Tiger lineup some depth, according to the Belleville coach.

Then there are Keith Julien and Brian Ferrett, both strong competitors. The Tigers also have Brian Ferrett, only one of two sophomores who is on the team this year, available for duty.

"Win or lose, this should be an interesting year for us," Medley added.

And a title one, too, coach?

Belleville girls 'just a year away'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The Belleville girls' cross country team could be "just one year away from a title."

That's how sophomore coach Sam Vicchy views the Tigers' chances in the Wolverine 'A' Conference in 1990.

"I think we are a little young this year from putting pressure on the frontrunners," Vicchy said as he prepares for the season opener on Sept. 6 at Ypsilanti. Vicchy believes Monroe, the defending champ, and Trenton, the runner-up, will again be the teams to beat for the title.

Despite the presence of Ann Gray, one of the finest runners in the state a year ago, the Tiger coach says the lack of overall balance and experience may keep his team from being a serious challenger.

"However, you can never tell. We may surprise."

As a freshman Gray finished third at the Class A individual state finals when she completed the three-mile run in 19.01.15. As a sophomore, Gray may prove to be unbeatable.

The Tigers also have excellent runners in Carmelita Martell, Taira Jared and Jenny Woodring.

ton. The three are sophomores. Juniors Amy Fisher, Julie Evans and Rhonda Jamieson also are impressive.

Belleville boasts two seniors in its lineup with Karla Blackwell and Becky Brown. They, too, must contribute if the Tigers are to succeed this year.

Other potential point-contributors include: Rachel Alexander, Angie Booth, Julie Evans, Janet Hoffman, Rachel Hunter and David Malory.

Also seeking status in the Belleville lineup are Keisha Taylor, Dorvia Thomas, Kelly Wauer, Valerie Cardinal, and Kristine Wilson.

Dealership deals free car to local center

By BARBARA GOFFMAN
ANP Special Writer

A 1989 Oldsmobile Cutlass Ciera has been saved from the scrap crusher by officials of the William D. Ford Vocational/Technical Center in Westland.

They recently requested that Charnock Oldsmobile of Dearborn donate the next car which arrived at the dealership damaged, said Sid Charnock, new car sales manager.

"Oldsmobile has a program, as do other manufacturers, that allows dealers to donate cars which are unsuitable for sale, either because they were damaged on the way to the dealership or because they were engineering-tested and pilot line vehicles," he said. "The school has to make the request, and once such a transit car comes in, we make the donation."

Ford students enrolled in the Automotive Technology program will use the vehicle as a learning tool, said Greg Baracy, assistant principal of the center.

"It will be used to demonstrate the new electronic and mechanical state-of-the-art systems found on cars today," he said.

"Students will get the opportunity to tear the car apart and put it back together again."

The on-board computer is one feature students will be excited about. By studying how it relates to the operation of the car, students will be better prepared to do body repairs to cars of the 1990s.

"This donation prevents us from having to use junked old cars which are not technologically up to date," Baracy said. "So students will get a better education.

"Partnerships between industry and education, such as this one, help provide the necessary technology for our students to be prepared for the 21st century. Vehicles change so much each year, it is imperative we give students the opportunity to work on the latest computer technology."

The center receives about six cars each year from dealers, Baracy said. The cars or their parts are only used for educational purposes, he said.

Charnock Oldsmobile is happy to participate in such a program, said Charnock.

"Some day these young mechanic trainees will enter the work force and possibly become future employees," he said.

The dealership recently donated cars to the Crestwood schools and to the Edsel Ford High School, as well.

Residents remembers first car purchase

Edna Crawford of Westland recently wrote in to share her memories of the first cars she and her husband Earl purchased.

In 1947, two years after they were married, they spent $990 on a used 1940 Chevy.

She called that car "the first mistake we made as man and wife."

Earl was a cook at the Selfridge Field army base. One snowy day, he left at 2:30 a.m. to go to the field. Wayne Road was covered with snow. He tried to pass the snow plow going down the center of the road but ended up skidding into the blade.

"It went right through his door," Edna said. "Miracle of miracles, it didn't touch him. But it cost us dearly to repair our car, plus we had to pay for repairs on the county snow plow. All in all, we put a fortune into that car. I think we replaced every possible part."

Three years later, the Crawfords tried their luck again, purchasing a spanking-new 1950 Studebaker. It was a good buy.

"Earl loved that car. He was so proud. We still have it, and it still works," Edna said.

Anyone with interesting old car stories to share are welcome to jot down their memories and send the information to Associated Newspapers, Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184. Any accompanying photos would be appreciated. They will be returned.

Hey, it only took the threat of war, 2,500 Americans taken as hostages and a certified madman bragging of his intent to use chemical warfare to wise up the federal government.

OK, so not the entire federal government, but the army general who marched to the local K mart to purchase supplies for his departing troops certainly indicated there are some brains in the military, despite evidence to the contrary.

For years, the reports of $70 hammers, $20 screws and $500 toilet seats have been a source of irritation to many Americans such as myself who have been forced, against their will, to learn to live within a budget. Personally, when I read about the one-half million dollar facsimile machine, I threw the newspaper at my dog. Let's get serious. Haven't these guys ever heard of Pace Warehouse? Do they lock themselves in the cellar of the Pentagon and only let themselves out to talk to salesmen?

How many of these guys have ever seen the inside of a K mart or Target store anyhow. What kind of criteria is used in giving them these jobs? I think they ought to take a few lessons from people who know how to find a bargain. You know, those of us who get fruit baskets from Visa and Mastercard.

Last year, at tax time, the urge to send the Internal Revenue Service a box of hammers from Northside Hardware rather than the $500 or so they demanded in tax revenue was a serious temptation. Hey, Phil Kaplan would have given me a deal on a crate of hammers. And he never would have thought about charging $70 each. The last hammer he sold me cost about $12, and then somebody found it so efficient and desirable, they stole it.

And, I bet I could get old Uncle Sam a great deal on all the fax machines he'd ever need. Of course, I might have a bit of trouble finding out where to send them after the rather graphic editorial comment my dog executed on the newspaper.

But this idea of trading with the government isn't too bad. I mean, these guys are so busy spending exorbitant amounts of taxpayers' money, it would probably save them a great deal of work and trouble if we'd just do the shopping for them. There are a lot of taxpaying citizens who would be happy to provide, oh, say, screwdrivers, bug-spray and deodorant rather than cash. After all, now that we have to pay for the Savings and Loan bailout, we have to cut corners wherever we can.

My dog is smarter than I thought.

Here's a great dessert to take your mind off the Persian Gulf, the Savings and Loan situation and the economy. If, however, you have the government purchase the ingredients, it'll cost you more than a Buick.

1 1/2 cups whole natural almonds
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks, beaten
1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1/2 ground cloves
1 cup raspberry jam

Grind almonds in blender or food processor and set aside. Cream butter and sugar. Add egg yolks, ground almonds and lemon rind. Sift together flour and spices and add to creamed mixture. Knead until dough is firm and holds together. Pat

CREATIVITY

Scott Winfrey likes people who appreciate good taste.

That's because Winfrey is a sous chef at the Rattle Snake Club in downtown Detroit.

"I like the creative aspect of cooking. There are so many different things you can do with flavor and colors," Winfrey said.

During his sophomore year at John Glenn High, Winfrey, 22, began taking cooking classes and went into the culinary program at the William D. Ford Vocational Center. He then entered the culinary arts program at Schoolcraft College.

After working in different kitchens around the Detroit area, Winfrey discovered former London Chop House Chef Jimmy Schmidt was opening the Rattle Snake Club in Detroit. Winfrey was hired as a salad and appetizer chef. He then was promoted to sous chef, the kitchen's second in command.

"I like to experiment," he said. "If I have an idea, I have to present it to the other chefs and Jimmy himself before it can be used."

One of his own creations includes a cucumber pepper salsa, which he pours over salmon and lox. Another creation is Swordfish Annie, which he named after his wife.

"I like to take simple things and spice them up with just a little twist," Winfrey said.

When at home, Winfrey cooks mostly on the grill, trying to spice up ordinary food.

"When I'm home, since my wife and I work different schedules, I don't really want to spend my time cooking for one person," he said.

Winfrey hopes someday to own his own restaurant in his hometown of Westland.

"I'd like it to be a cafe-style restaurant, kind of like T.G.I.Friday's or Bennigan's but slightly nicer," he said.

Winfrey also enjoys teaching others how to cook. A few months ago, he began appearing on the local cable show "Occupations and Avocations," hosted by Del Reddy.

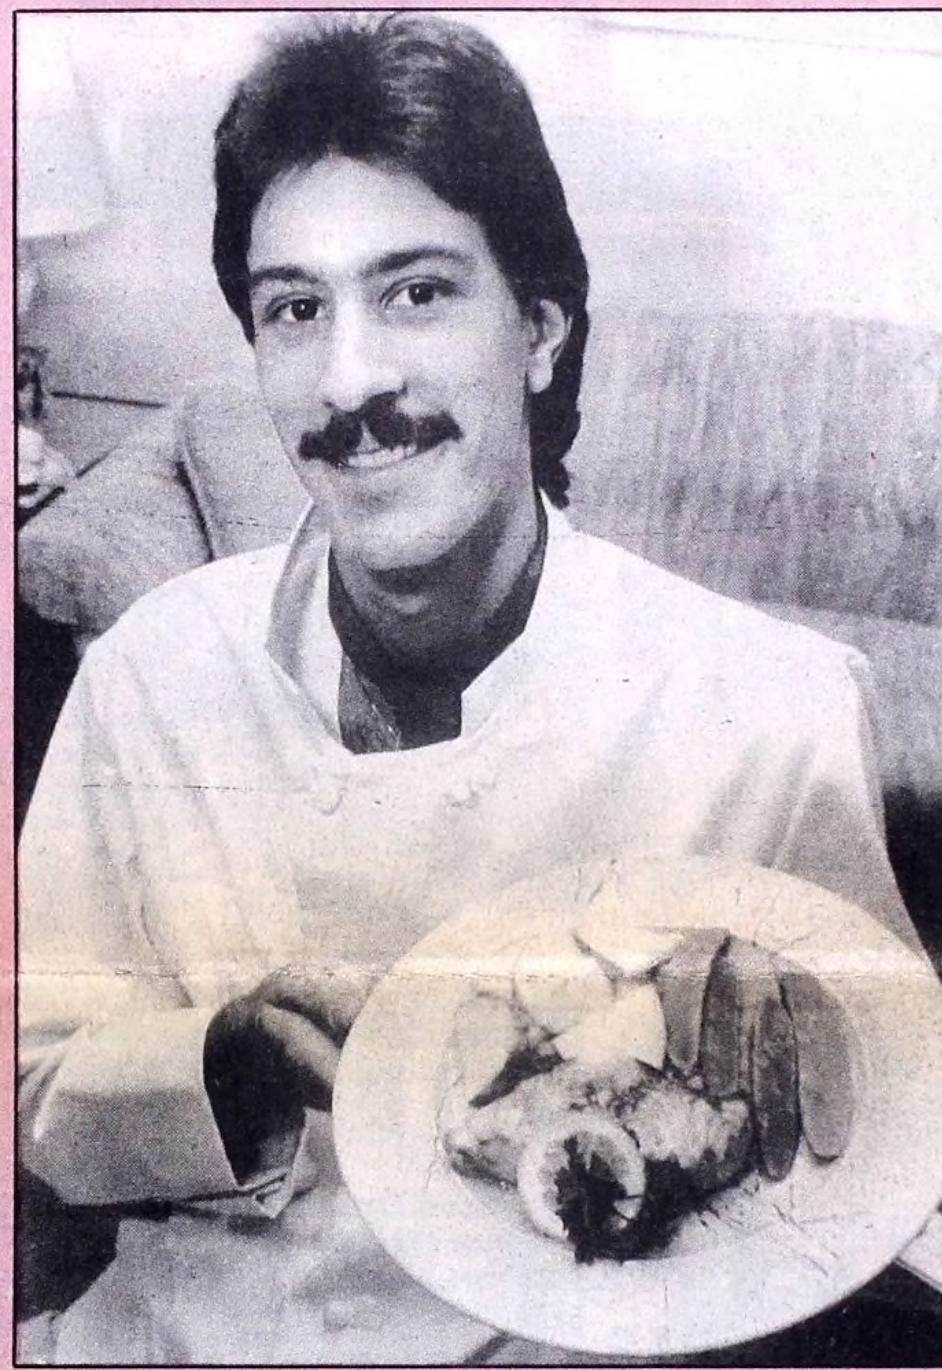

"I'm trying to get my own show on cable so that each week I can teach people how to cook," Winfrey said. "So many people get into a deadlock of what food should be like. There are so many different things out there in the supermarket that you don't have to be a chef to try different things."

Swordfish Annie

(Marinade for four fish)

3 lemons
1/4 cup olive oil
3 sprigs fresh thyme (1 tsp. dry)
Salt-cracked pepper to taste

Combine juice from lemons and olive oil in bowl. Clean thyme from stems and add to bowl with salt and pepper. Whisk together. Pour over fish and marinade for 2-3 hours. Use marinade as a baste while cooking. Serve with your favorite potato and vegetable.

Cook noodles according to package. Cool and toss in oil. Cut both peppers into one inch strips. Cook asparagus and cut into one inch pieces. Add dressing and toss all ingredients together.

Dressing

2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
1/2 cup balsamic vinegar
1 cup oil (vegetable - olive)
Salt-cracked pepper to taste

Put mustard in bowl and add vinegar. Slowly whisk oil into bowl. Add salt and pepper.

Restaurant reflects on best of times

It's difficult to decide whether the view is as good as the food at Reflections Lakeside in Belle-ville.

Both the view and food are worth the trip to the newly-opened waterfront restaurant, where the menu invites you to "take a step back in time."

The restaurant, operated by the Pinter family, makes good on its promise with fresh vegetables and coffee and homemade daily specials.

The menu features a good selection of daily specials including: Monday, stuffed peppers; Tuesday, meatloaf; Wednesday, beef stroganoff; Thursday, stuffed cabbage; Friday, pepper steak; Saturday, goulash; and Sunday, chicken paprikas. The specials cost between $4.95 and $5.95.

My selection was steak kabob, which was well-cooked and flavored on a bed of fluffy rice and garnished with an orange twist. A baked potato with sour cream and a salad, served with bleu cheese dressing completed the meal.

Desserts are difficult to resist at Reflections Lakeside. The variety of ice cream specialties — sundaes, sodas, shakes, parfaits, banana splits and an ice cream extravaganza known as the Pig's Dinner — are tempting.

One diner noted Reflections is the only restaurant in which she will order meatloaf. It reminds her of her mother's meatloaf recipe, she said. Her husband voted for the sausage — tangy, but not too spicy. A businesswoman cast her vote for the chicken stew, which she described as "reasonably priced, delicious and very filling."

On the minus side: the service tends to be slow during the peak lunch and dinner hours — a problem that should be remedied when the new crew settles into a familiar routine in the newly opened establishment.

The restaurant, at 146 High St., is open daily from 7 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Another one-tank trip

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

"Basically, there are two types of Michigan vacationers. One group enjoys traveling to faraway places, and the other group prefers to spend a week or two at a northern Michigan cottage or spend their vacation time visiting places of interest around the state," said Gary Sampson, of Adventure Travel.

Judy Mongelluzzo and her family fall into the second category, although they do take occasional out-of-state trips.

"We like to see different places in Michigan, and often we combine a business trip with visits to nearby tourist attractions," she said. "After visiting many places in the eastern and northern parts of the state, we decided to visit Ludington and the Lake Michigan shoreline this summer."

Visitors to Ludington may take one of the daily ferry trips from Ludington to Keweenaw, Wis. to extend their visit, or tour White Pine Village, the Rose Hawley Museum and the nearby dunes and lake attractions.

"The best way to see the area is to take a ride on the two English double-decker buses. One of the buses takes visitors to Ludington State Park and the other goes to Pentwater and the White Pine Village - kind of a miniature Greenfield Village," Mongelluzzo said.

Renaissance Festival open on weekends

Special themes will highlight the Renaissance Festival each weekend through the end of September.

King Edward and Queen Katheryne will renew their wedding vows during the Aug. 25 and 26 Renaissance Romance weekend at Hollygrove, the mystical kingdom located one mile north of Mt. Holly, on Dixie Highway.

Other attractions are: Fool's Fantasy, Sept. 1, 2 and 3; Days of Knights, Sept. 8 and 9; Music and Dance, Sept. 15 and 16; Highland Fling, Sept. 22 and 23,

We like to see different places in Michigan, and often we combine a business trip with visits to nearby tourist attractions.

The village features a working replica of a blacksmith shop, a general store, trapper's cabin, one-room school, farmhouse, hardware store and the Abe Nelson Lumbering Museum. The museum contains an extensive collection of items from the early days of Michigan. The changing schedule of exhibits feature early U.S. Coast Guard equipment, models of sailing vessels, household items, historical artifacts and clothing.

The village closes for the season on Sept. 2, but seasonal events are scheduled through the end of the year:

- Oct. 6 and 7, Autumn Festival, featuring fresh-pressed cider, food preparation ideas and harvest season celebrations;
- Oct. 30, Halloween in the Village, featuring costume contests, treats and "scary" surprises, and
- Dec. 1 and 2, Christmas in the village, featuring traditional decorations, live seasonal

Area painter displays latest work

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Muriel Boelter's paintings could not have been displayed in a more appropriate setting than in the Fred C. Fischer Library in Belleville.

Boelter, a Romulus resident, is the daughter of the late Fred Fischer, a respected educator whom the library and two elementary schools — one in Dearborn Heights and one in Taylor — was named after.

Boelter's paintings will be featured at the library through the end of August, as part of a rotating exhibit of works by local artists.

Among the works on display is an oil painting of her grandparents, which she copied from old photographs.

"Usually, I don't paint from copies of anything," Boelter said. "But the house, which was located in Flat Rock, which was the boyhood home of my father, and was torn down many years ago."

Boelter said the family home painting sparked memories of the house where students gathered in the early part of the century.

"There's a story about my father sending a letter to my grandmother to tell her a group of high school students were coming to visit by sleigh or cutter. The letter never arrived, but she prepared a meal for the guests and entertained them without any advance notice," Boelter said. "That is a good illustration of hospitality. I don't know if people could do that today."

Boelter also makes pottery, plays the piano, performs with the September Days Kitchen Band and is an active tennis player.

"I play tennis two or three times a week at the Dearborn Racquet and Health Club," she said. "I'd play more if I could find a partner to play with. My father's father made a tennis court on the family property sometime before 1900, and all of the area farm boys came to play tennis there. My father also made a tennis court by the side of the house, and enjoyed playing tennis."

Boelter studied art at Michigan State Normal College, now Eastern Michigan University, and taught art at Willow Run Elementary School for eight years. She also was a substitute teacher in the Romulus and Woodhaven school districts.

At the age of 50, Boelter returned to EMU to study art and music.

two-thirds of dough into a 9-inch round cake pan, covering bottom and sides. The layer should be about half-inch thick. Spread with jam. Form eight half-inch thick strips with remaining dough. Make lattice top by placing four strips one way and four the opposite. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes. Cool. Cut into pie-shaped wedges an inch wide at the rim. Serve with whipped cream.

Chocolate wafer roll

1 cup heavy cream
1/4 cup confectioners sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
20 Famous Chocolate Wafers

Whip cream with sugar and vanilla until stiff. Reserve one cup. Spread Famous Chocolate Wafers with remaining cream and arrange in stacks of four or five. Chill 15 minutes. Lay stacks on edge to make one long roll. Spread remaining cream on outside of roll. Chill 3 to 4 hours, or overnight, covered. To serve, cut diagonally.

Oakwood is Advanced MedicineLaser Surgery

Since its introduction at Oakwood Hospital in 1979, the use of laser technology for the treatment of many types of diseases has grown dramatically. The reason is simple. In most cases, laser surgery results in less pain, bleeding, anesthesia, time in the hospital and time away from work. In fact, procedures which only a few years ago meant lengthy hospital stays and recovery at home now can be accomplished on an outpatient basis, allowing patients to get back to normal lifestyles within days.

Through Oakwood physicians, patients have access to the various types of lasers available: CO₂, Argon and KTP/ND: Yag lasers. These lasers are applied in the medical specialties of ears, nose and throat, urology, neurosurgery, ophthalmology, gynecology and general surgery.

Oakwood Health Services is one of the largest health care systems in Michigan, with five hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and more than 1,000 physicians in every major health care specialty and subspecialty. Oakwood will serve more than half a million patients this year.
